Reset your drawdown sets a new equity level from which your Notification/Soft and Hard Stops trigger. it does NOT reset your drawdown levels.

Troubleshooting

Warning level must be less than soft stop and soft stop must be less than hard stop
Drawdown is set to your equity level NOT your balance
If you reset your drawdown, 0% will equal the equity at the time of the reset. There is no need to adjust your other levels
Max drawdowns will track your growth in your equity, i.e. if your equity increases the % levels set will be in line with the increased equity value
